

CHANDLER EKHOLM

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am an aspiring computer programmer with a passion for coding. I enjoy learning new programming languages as well as new ways to apply what I've learned to help others. Passionate about the evolving space for software development, cyber security, and network and database management. Enthusiastic about developing secure programs for intricate computer challenges. I aspire to develop Virtual Reality programs to help mankind by simulating immersive training situations that otherwise would be impossible to safely experience.
